

“Who is your hero?”

My hero is my mom. I know it sounds extremely cliché, but where would I be without my mom? My mom is the most caring person in my life. She is also very supportive of everything that I do. She is also a positive role model to me. My mom is my hero because of the inspiration and motivation that she gives me.

Just like any other mother, my mom only shows a caring attitude towards me. Even when I'm grounded she always reminds me that, “even though I'm in trouble, this is just a lesson to learn to never do that again”. She always makes sure that I have all that I need to survive. My mom does her best to make me feel better when I'm upset or overwhelmed with school or work. Most importantly, my mom cares so much about my future so she's hard on me about putting the most effort to the things that are beneficial to me.

Along with my mom's caring nature, she is also one of my biggest supporters. My mom works a lot since she's a single mother of three, but when she had days off she always made it to my volleyball games when she could. It always gave me a boost of energy to see and mostly hear her in the crowd cheering me on. I like to think of her as one of my crazed fans. My mom is always there for me when I need her. It could literally be anything, but she always supports the positive things in my life.

My mom is such a positive role model to me. She only will influence me in a good manner since I look up to her so much. My mom has several jobs throughout my life, but she always displays good work ethic. That has definitely wore off on me since I have worked two jobs at once and still managed to stay ahead in all of my classes. My mom has a really strict rule when it comes to quitting or giving up. She has never allowed to give up on myself, because she believes that I should only work hard to move forward. Another positive aspect about my mom is how much she values education. My mom makes sure that I stay on top of school work and that I only receive nothing lower than a C on any assignment.

My mom is my hero not only because she saves me from time to time, but because of the way she treats me. I could have any other person as my mom, but I was lucky enough to have a strong, independent mom in my life. Although my mom has had many difficulties within her life, I still want to be as good of a person she is.