An American Hero

My definition of a hero is someone that helps you when you need help. There is a teacher at Macomb Academy her name is Mrs. Nalu. She is my hero. Mrs. Nalu inspires me in so many ways. I think she is beautiful courageous and strong. She always respects us she never backs down from a situation. She's always understanding she never yells at us when we misbehave. She's amazingly sweet. Who wouldn't want Mrs. Nalu as their teacher? She is kind sweet and funny. She's so inspirational and courageous and strong. She's the best she's always there for students she loves and cares for the students here at Macomb Academy. She makes me smile every day. I love seeing her in class. I have two more years I'm going to miss her so much. Oh, I forgot to mention she looks like a supermodel. She's a beautiful person inside and out. She makes my day she will never put a student down. She will pick you up when you fall. She is someone you can go to when you need someone to talk to. When I need someone to talk to I can go to her. She will always help me when I need help. She is my favorite teacher in the whole world. I did the summer program last year at Camp Oaysia. It was so much fun she make's everything fun. She love's us students. I think she would make a great mom in the future the way she cares about us students. I'm so glad I got to meet and have her as a teacher. I love the way she helps me with school work. I love the way she helps me with healthy living. She is always there for the students and staff at Macomb. She will never pick on a student because of their disability. She is such a sweet caring person. I will never forget her in the future. I will always come back to Macomb Academy to visit her when I graduate. I'm going to miss her.

People are inspirational but there is not anybody so inspirational courageous and amazing sweet than her. That's why Mrs. Nalu is the greatest American hero.

God's Guardian Angels

My parents are my hero because they always know when I'm walking in the wrong direction. I get advice from my dad on how to be a better person and understand that life is the way life is. My Dad knows what I want in life, but he also told me that there is nothing wrong with just being an uncle. He is there when I need advice, or he will just get me to think and ask myself what I want to do when I live my life. My dad always gives me a choice to really think about who I really want to be and where I want to be. He knows I'll make the right choice and he knows I will do the right thing. My step mother knows how to get me to smile and have a great time listening to our favorite Christian rock band, Skillet. She knows that whenever she and I are listening to the songs, I feel a lot better and all my stress and worries are gone. They both give me strength to walk away from a fight or to get through my toughest days. When I visit them on the weekends or go to church on Sunday night, we go and listen to music and hear what God has to say. After the service is over my parents ask me what I have learned that night and if I understood how it affects my life. I am a better man than my past because of my parents and because they believe that I will make the right choice in life. They make me a better man every day. My step mother and father both understand that I have a very hard time when someone I love passes away. Yes, it is frustrating me, but even if I take my anger out on them. They both know I'm angry at myself because I do not want to let go just yet. The people I love and care for keep suffering in pain all day and night in this world. My parents ask me "wouldn't you want them to be pain free and happy that they are finally home and in heaven. That's why my parents are my heroes because whenever I'm having a bad day, they are always going to be there when I need them. That's how I know God guided me to two guardian angels.

A School Hero

A hero is someone who stands out to me, Ms. Nicole is that person who inspires me in so many ways. First day I met Ms. Nicole I started to like her right away. She is kind and sweet. She helps with problems. She always running around helping students, writing stuff down, and finishing paper work. She is the best. She has been here for me ever since she first started here. She is a beautiful lady. She is understanding. I am brave like she is. When I talk to her I feel like she understands what I am saying to her. She makes me smile. She is a truthful person. She is a very strong person. I have learned a lot from her. She is a very caring person. She cares about all of the students. She is a loveable person. She plans fun stuff for us each month. She let us go bowling in January. She let us go to the movies last month. She let us go to Chipotle twice for a fundraiser. I have learned to be kind from her. She is an amazing person. She makes everything fun here at Macomb. She always has paperwork to do she works hard on that. She is a very patient person. She is the person over the jobsite person. She helped me when a student pushed me on the bus last week. She has added new jobsites for us to work at. She hired Mr. Adam, Ms. Sarah, and she brought Mr.T back to us. She is the best jobsite person ever. She is a very respectful person.

God is my Hero

A hero is someone that risks their life saving and protecting those they love, and never give up on us. They stand for what's right and for what they believe in. So, the question is, who is my hero? Well the answer is very simple and clear, it is God. God is my hero because he is always there for me, I can talk to him whenever I need to. He is a best friend to me when I do not have a best friend here on the earth with me. He is all the love I will ever need to. He comes in three ways God the father, God the son, God the holy spirit. He helped me through all of my life's problems. When I was feeling really stressed out on one point of my life, god was there to soothe me through it. God is always listening to me and always sends his angels to protect and watch over me. He loves it when I talk and praise /worship to him, I love hearing his laugh and voice. God is my lord and savior forever and always. Whenever the devil is trying to hurt me, I know God is there to kick his butt and protect me from him and all his tricks.

There was this one day where I was really sad and upset with my parent, they scared me and my sister and one of my brothers. God told me to stay calm and told me that he will handle it all. I was feeling really anxious and scared, but at the same time I put my problems in God's hands. I prayed and kept praying for my parent and my sister and one of my brothers and on that night, I felt comfort and peace. I was very happy. Another night, the devil was getting to me and I tried to get him out myself, but I just could not. I was really tired of it, so I put my hand over my heart and said, “the I got really tired of it, so I put my hand over my heart and said, “The devil has no place in my heart, Jesus does!” After I said that, I didn’t feel that angry anymore. I apologized to my parents for lashing out at them for no reason. Jesus inspires me in so many ways. I love him so much and I know he loves me more. I can’t wait to see him, hug him and kiss him. Another time is when my stepmom and dad were looking for somewhere to go for spring break, we prayed and put this problem into God’s hands. Dad told me the next day that he got a place for spring break. God is my best friend, I love him. I am in his army, I’ll always be there for him just like he’s always there for me.

The Hero Who is my Mother

Susan Sobieski works at the Macomb Spine Care and she takes care of people that has spine problems and she gives an amazing effort at her job regardless of her occupation. She has a sister named Ann, two brothers named Bob and Jim, a daughter named Chelsea and a grandson named Levi. I have the kindness mom that I could have in my life and she work to get paid and take care of the family. She does the best that she can, dishes, makes dinner, doing laundry, cleaning the bathroom. To me she the most caring person that I have ever met. She likes to take vacations and have fun while she is on vacation. Due to her I am the sweetest and I can help my family that has issues sometimes and get along with them and spending time with them as well. She has the right to have insurance and all of the bills that needs to be taken care of and I admire her as my best friends. She does her chores and I can be the hero like my mom and she like to hang out sometimes and my mom likes to go to church and she likes to say her prayers and listen to church music. I love to pray with God because of her. Responsibility, trustworthy, and inspiring are qualities that my mom has, and she makes me want to be a talented person like her. She likes to have her own space when she has company in her house. My mom helps me out with medication, making appointments, and transportation. Problem solving is one of my mom's strongest talents and she continues to be helpful and understand which she is why will always be my hero.
